

Differentiated Instruction

is the proactive acceptance of and planning for student differences, including their Teachers can respond to student differences by differentiating while always keeping in mind the guiding principles of

